Suggestion	I am an Architect and i would like suggest to intergrate the rural level water bodies in the master plan as a part of urban development. As we all now understand the importance of water bodies in an urban environment, it is very important for Delhi now to conserve all the rural/urban level existing water bodies. A comprehensive development scheme for the existing water bodies needs to be prepared and should be enforced well as well. I would like to add that there is old rural level POND near Sahipur village in Shalimar bagh, whichhas now been turned into a dump yard for waste. we need to understand that an old water body has an complete ecosystem running around it. Once water body dies, the complete ecosystem dies. we should conserve it and develop it in cohersion withthe urban development plan of the area.
