Sub: New Suggestions for Review of MPD-2021

Re: Open House Meet on 1 May 2012

Dear Sir,

I am a ret'd Govt Servant and was allotted a plot of 60sqm, at the above address, by DDA. On this plot, I built a house of one floor only (i.e. Ground floor) acc. to the plan provided by DDA. It was constructed in 1994. This ground floor house is used by me for self residence and no commercial activity is undertaken.

Now, as the space requirement of family has gone up, I want to construct an additional floor (only one floor as first floor).

I have been informed by me by MCD

Office, Rohini Zone, Sec 5, Delhi, that it cannot be done as I ~~cannot~~ ^{cannot} a parking (still) space on ground floor. This means first I will have to demolish the present construction at ground floor and then construct the parking space (still at ground floor) and then subsequently first floor and second floor. This means for having an additional floor, I will have to re-build a house of three floors.

This is really too much for a retired person who will have to spend at least 3 times for construction only for getting benefit of an additional floor.

It is therefore suggested that there ~~there~~ should be a provision for allowing such cases of adding only one floor without the construction of parking space and demolishing the existing house. This can be permitted as a one time concession with a condition that further addition of new floor can be done only after providing for parking.

Kindly consider the suggestion sympathetically.

Thanking you

Yours faithfully
